THE TRUTH ABOUT HITLER

BEAST or MAN WHAT IS HE ?

SAMUEL UNTERMEYER URGES ANTI-NAZI BOYCOTT

Exclusive Story and Pictures of Nazi Atrocities

WOMEN for BREEDING
Says Hitler

THE CHANCELLOR of "awakening" Germany, in his oratory, is directed to the Germany of the future, but with equivocations of the Germany of the past. At once a revolutionary and a sentimentalist, he has curious notions of what is permitted in the service of his creed.

"Germany," Hitler cries, "has restored her national honor in a few weeks by a "unique revival." Ferocious terrorism, that happy instrument of national honor, has dispersed or driven underground the Nazi party's enemies."

A revolution always claims Terror inevitable. In triumphing over his enemies, Hitler is triumphing over nearly half the German people, many of whose leaders his followers have murdered or maimed or imprisoned.

Hitler proclaims his deep desire to "build a real commonwealth of German tribes and classes and professions. He has embarked upon an enterprise which baffled Bismark—the "liquidation" of the Marxist parties. Even if he succeeds as a destroyer, what will his grandiose phrases tell us of his programme as a builder?

President von Hindenburg speaks of the "old spirit of Prussia." But the Prussian spirit has an evil name outside Germany. Pre-revolution Germany—for the sake of the world—cannot be summoned by words. Classes which once ruled in Germany have lost socially and economically. Hitler's career as agitator has been made possible by support of "injured and insulted" masses. Feeling the bitterness of national humiliation and individual ruin they went to Hitler for the promise which he gave them to both national and individual resurrection.

But showmanship and speeches fill no stomachs. Political and dynastic questions are secondary to desperate people. However, he is prepared to spend enormously on schemes "creating work." Nazis in the past have flourished on denunciation of high rates of interest.

The former Allied powers must share much of the blame for the hysteria and violence which has disgraced the Nazi movement and which make its future fraught with sinister possibilities. Whatever Hitler's detailed program, or his future destiny, the Nazi "revolution" is in power and will hold power for a long time. That is a fact with which Europe must reckon.

Hitler has risen thanks to the peace settlement, which he denounced as unjust and monstrous. It is questioned if he will use Germany's profound sense of injustice to mould a generation which will seek to change the Versailles settlement by force. If he does this, he aims at a "revision" which can only come about through war, and must by history's logic mean yet more profound injustice.

Methods by which he procured his victory, like the method by which it was celebrated, are as ominous as the men by whom he is surrounded. Does he bring war or peace?

Bringing no abatement of the sufferings of the Germany Jewry, the orgy of repression goes on with undiminished vigor. The gates of a new Ghetto are slowly but surely closing on Germany's Jewry.

The anti-Jewish campaign of the Nazi is being observed with disgust by a decent opinion outside Germany, and not the least in America. The crime is to be a Jew, and for that, no professional eminence, no degree of capacity in business, no public service, and no private virtue, can atone.

Brutal floggings are reported from Berlin and Frankfurt. In one case, under threat of death in the event of refusal, a Jew was compelled to whip Jew, and even fathers and sons were forced into mutual assault.

The blood of every civilized country is boiling. It makes credence the atrocities and the worst war-time stories of Bosche savagery. Germany has returned to the barbarism of the Hun. Or is it, that despite the German's lip service to culture and civilization, he is naturally cruel and heartless?

The result is progroms such as Germany has not seen since the Jewish perecutions of the 14th century. Those progroms cannot be glossed over by being called house searches. The year 1933 is the darkest year in the last five centuries of the history of German culture and German Jewry. The powers behind National Socialism, namely, feudalism and militarism, have, in their difficulty, unchained the bestiality of the masses in order to save themselves, and are now clearly frightened of the consequences.

The Government may succeed in calling a halt before the ill-treatment, torture and slaughter of thousands of Socialists, Catholics and Jews should lead to civil war such as the world has never yet seen.

Nothing is definitely known about thousands of people who were arrested. One constantly hears of cases where mothers, wives, and children of arrested persons are being refused information. The mental agonies suffered by these women and children may be well imagined.

Are their sons, husbands, and fathers in prison, or in concentration camps, or where? Are they alive or are they dead? Nobody knows. The papers contain hardly any more reports of new arrests, but does that mean that arrests have stopped? The feeling is growing that it is the moral duty of the Government to publish at least the names and the whereabouts of the arrested men. Even the Russian Cheka (political police) during the worst period of the Red Terror usually did as much.

Women for Breeding

No German is permitted to voice any criticism of Hitler. He is out to build warriors and permitted to use the schools, movies, textbooks, newspapers, magazines, theatre, lectures toward this end, without any interference whatsoever.

Movies are rigorously censored. One can look forward to Hitler making heroes of the Nazis, that the dirt and blood of recent weeks will be counterfeited with a thin coating of golden tinsel.

"Woman," says the Nazi, "is for the procreation of the race." They have been forbidden any political activity.

"Look," says Hitler, scanning the statistics showing an alarming decrease in the birth rate. "We just can't have that. From now on, women are to forget everything but to breed. We must have a race of Germans—pure Germans—and woman is fit for only one thing—the perpetuation of the race—to breed."

This statement was once made in another wording by Oscar Wilde, of brilliant fame but lavender hue.

Warriors

Hitler's program will make of the Reich a vast warrior's school. Everything is in order from games to babies. Teachers, textbooks and histories are to be replaced. Athletics will become a war sport. The necessary discipline, by inhuman treatment of the Jews, by cowing the Catholics, and the populace, has been accomplished.

"Wehrpflict," "Wehregedanke," are the slogans one sees everywhere.

And what is Germany arming for? To take over Austria. To humble the League of Nations. To foster the ego of Adolph Hitler. The Jews, weakest in the scheme of things, had to go.

Today, organization has welded a formidable fighting machine in Germany. Germany's spirit has returned to her people.

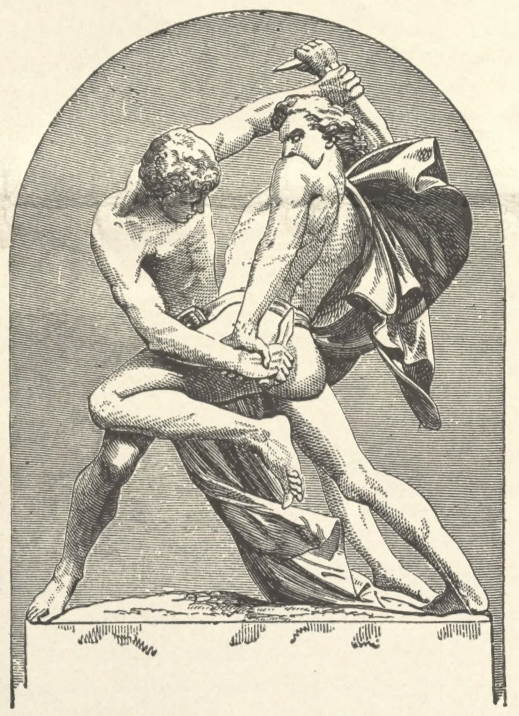
Jewish Graves Desecrated

There are 600,000 Jews in Germany, and of these something under 100,000 are foreign born.

The Nazi anti-Semitic campaign is directed without distinction against Jews whose forbears have lived in Germany for centuries, and those but recently arrived. No inquiry as to length of residence has been made in the case of Jewish professors, lawyers, doctors, actors and civil servants who have been summarily dismissed from their employment. The economic boycott extends to all Jewish shopkeepers alike. The wild, insensate propaganda of hatred at school and college makes no discrimination between the children of the native born and foreign Jews. The Jewish graves that have been desecrated are not those of recent arrivals in the country.

No Restraint

Nazi agents are throwing restraint to the winds and are conducting an intensive and bitter organized political effort through the medium of public meetings and in their partisan press, ostensibly against Communism and Liberalism, but 99 per cent of it directed with venom against the Jews. The avowed object is to incite a wave of anti-Semitic feeling throughout Holland—a boycott of Jews.



Instigators have published their ambitious plan for the creation of a mighty Germanic Empire with Germany of course as the pivot, and with Austria, Holland, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland and Flemish Belgium as confederate members. The great obstacle to the realization of this dream, they declare, is the Jew. His secret power must be broken and his influence nullified, for surely it is he that controls the Dutch press, making ineffectual any attempt towards the realization of the propounded Germanic ideal.

Hitler Bluffs

"The right of the press to criticize imposes the duty of serving the objects of truth. Never must criticism become an object in itself."

So spoke Chancellor Hitler in taking a definite stand for "purification" of the German race by purging it of Jewish influence.

Hitler also said (April 6) that Germany's relations with foreign countries would be governed by the interests of the entire German nation.

"Germany has a natural claim to spiritual leadership of the Reich by Germans themselves," said Hitler. "The greatest achievements in German spiritual life had not been performed by aliens, but by members of the Aryan and German races. Germans must be given preference over alien races."

"Would that mean that Americans—not Jews—would be construed as aliens?" he was questioned.

Back came the retort, like the pop of a bottle of Rhine wine.

"I can only say that only this afternoon I made arrangements to receive Norman H. Davis, the new American Ambassador at large."

Metternich

On the eve of the revolution of 1848, Metternich wrote to Apponyi: "World is very sick, every day proves that the moral poison is increasing. The general condition of Europe is dangerous; the era in which we live is one of transition and the present moment bears all the characteristics of one of those crises which necessarily present themselves in periods of transition. One cannot predict what the orderly elements of society will do, but one can predict what the disorderly elements will do; and the latter now rule the world. What is clear to me is that things will undergo great changes."

America's Sensational Magazine. Be Up in the Times of the Day. Eight Marvelous Issues only $1.

Next Month

Next issue will publish the most sensational but authentic photographs, smuggled out of Germany, at great expense, of what has occurred, as well as word pictures by writers who either witnessed these horrifying scenes or from eye-witnesses. Too, chapters of Hitler's personal life, never before brought to attention of the public, will be disclosed.

NEW YORK LIFE will continue the Nazi boycott. Nothing can stop this publication, dedicated to the ideals of justice, from rendering by word and print a message to humanity to curb the heinous Nazis. The most powerful weapon is to turn on Hitlerism the weapon he turned on the Jews—that of the boycott.

In addition, next month will be published True Tales of New York, essential to the fact that America is leading today to eliminate the puritanical in literature.

Here in NEW YORK LIFE you will secure the choicest reading.

Hitler Insults the Women of the World by Wanting Them to Breed Male Children for Cannon Fodder to be Turned Against the World.

KEYSTONE

New Testament Out

"The New Testament must go!" Away from anything Jewish! Since Christianity is Jewish, it is necessary to liberate the German people from Christianity. That is the doctrine of the Nazis, and it is essential that the world should know this fact.

Ritual of Circumcision

Secret information is to the effect that the Nazis will not allow the ritual of circumcision on the male child, termed briese. This is to be made law shortly, in line with the ban on the slaughter of "kosher" meat.

Desecration

Nazi auxiliaries raided the Jewish quarter in East Berlin and searched for weapons and papers. Streets were closed and pedestrians halted. Worshippers leaving synagogues were chased, searched —and those not carrying double identification cards were taken to the police station. One Nazi desecrated the front of the place of worship.

Jews are still set upon in the Grenadier Strasse district of Berlin. On two occasions a large group of people officially described as provocateurs, have broken into a Synagogue there and terrorized the worshippers till the police arrived.

Humans Be Damned

Throughout Germany concentration camps are being constructed. At Dachnau, near Munich, famed in glory of old, stands the famous old castle of Hohnstein. It was converted into a penitentiary for the opponents of the Swastika and will hold 5,000 human beings. Heinrich Himmler, national head of the Nazi "Defense Squares," and of dubious character himself, is the organizer.

In all, Germany boasts over 50,000 prisoners. Camps are built for them. Jails are overflowing. Many of the jailors are kindly to Jews. In small towns friendly jailors are imprisoning their friendly fellow townspeople.

Another Pogrom

Heinrich Himmler, who lied himself into Nazi organization, has invented Gulliver stories of plots and assassinations. Himmler has lied in the past. The Germans know that. He will lie in the future —prevaricate and blast forever Judea.

His latest is: "Even though Hitler may not be shot. If only any attempt is made on his life, Germany is going to have a real pogrom."

Therefore, Jew and Gentile are praying for the safety of Hitler—each for obvious reasons.

Himmler, in his natty Nazi uniform, smiled.

"This time there will be real terror. The past week will only be slight reminder of such havoc."

"Suppose some disgruntled Nazi shoots at the German head?" he was questioned.

"Yah! Yah! Dot vill be goot! Dot makes no difference. Anyone anywhere, of whatever nationality—then the Jews will have to look out."

Germany Vernex Wrapped

While Hitler has been wrapping all Germany in vernex, it is estimated that 5,000 Jews have come into France in the past few weeks, but most of them trust to return to Germany when the "revolution" is over. Of this number 200 Jewish refugees from Germany have applied to Jewish charity organizations in Paris for relief.

Belgium has been a sanctuary. The majority are wives and children of well-to-do Jewish families from Rhineland cities.

Crossing the frontier into upper Silesia there have been about 1,000. Besides these about 3,000 Jews of Polish nationality have returned home. Until recently passage of the frontier of Upper Silesia was easy as special passes were obtained without difficulty. Now, however, a German visa is required.

The migration into Czechoslovakia reached about 500. Over 100 families have reached Prague and the border tons of Carlsbad.

Into Switzerland the trickle of the stream of Jewish refugees has increased. Basle is the only city where Swiss officials appear to have recorded Jewish entries. In three days alone over 4,000 Jews arrived. It is conservatively figured that 20,000 came into Switzerland during the boycott days and since.

Theoretically Switzerland allows asylum to all foreigners. Many of the Jews are heading for Spain, from which they were expelled in the fifteenth century. Spain is one of the few countries which allow foreigners of any nationality to come and work.

Mingling with the crowds in the Lustgarten, both Germans and Jews are admirable, but the German will always remain German and the Jew always Jew. The problem of the German Jew becomes an internal, German problem.

No More "Kosher"

The Nazi Party has decreed the Jews cannot slaughter in the Jewish "Kosher" ritual. Although the formal decree makes no mention of "kosher" food, it prevents meat and fowl slaughtered in accordance with the Jewish ritaul from reaching tables of German Jews.

The Jewish ritual directs that all animals slaughtered for food must be healthy and must be killed with one swift movement to prevent suffering.

The Jewish ritual demands that table meat be slaughtered by an expert, known as a "Schochet," who severs the animal's jugular vein with an exceedingly sharp knife which is inspected before each time it is used.

Christ a Hitlerite!

"Christ Himself was a Hitlerite," said Dr. Wieneke of Soldin to the Congress held in March of this year of the National Socialist members of the Evangelical Churchs of Germany.

Fifty Years Ago

Fifty years ago Austria was swept by an anti-Semetic wave led by George von Schoenerer. Adolph Hitler's father learned from George von Schoenerer, and imparted the seeds in the youngster's bosom, that, when he grew up, if he would become famous, if he would rouse the ignorant Teuton, then he must be an anti-Semetic.

BERLIN, GERMANY

KEYSTONE

WE DO NOT forget the terrible conditions following the War when charitable Jewry of America raised an immense sum for relief of suffering Jews and Gentiles in Central and Eastern Europe. Today, we realize it was a vain effort to an acceptance of higher standards of living and to a spirit of brotherhood.

True Christianity must have forgotten its precepts. Only yesterday, it seemed, in Germany, there were 17,000,000 men bringing on a silver platter their votes to the priest-like Austrian corporal of the German Army who twelve years ago was the seventh man of beer hall debaters in Munich — first National Socialists. The next time there's a vote, there will be at least 25,000,000.

There are some folks here in Berlin who aver that the name of Hitler is not rare among Austrian Jews. Too, I met a gentleman yesterday from Austria who claimed that a great grandparent of Hitler was Jewish and turned from the Hebrew faith when he married out of his religion.

Nazi writers allege that Christianity is responsible for the misery of the German people, and demand a return to the "German God." Today I picked up a copy of Berlin's leading daily newspaper, and read where the new literature of religion will be the glorification of Thor and Wodin just as it is full of abuse of the Founder of Christianity.

All this must make one wonder and shudder. Where is Christianity heading—especially now? Why, some gangster friends of mine back in Chicago, bad as the world might have thought of them, believed in Christ and went to Church Sundays.

In this past month has emanated the Holy Year decree of Pope Pious. With the thought of the utter bigotry of the Hitlerites of Germany, leaders of Catholics, Jews and Protestants gathered recently in New York City in a Holy Hour of rededication to the old spiritual ideals. But preaching alone will not accomplish the end envisioned in the decree of Pope Pious.

The Pope, a far-seeing, God-given man, is not permitting politics in the recent visit of Franz von Papen, Vice Chancellor of German, to the Vatican City. Prelates insisted that a concordat between Germany and the Vatican would be negotiated as a result of von Papen's visit. The Vatican has refused to support the proposed German Catholic party reconstruction. Perhaps the Pope, in his humane way, remembers that von Papen, not only was the instigator of bombings and killing of many American citizens of the United States, prior to our entry into the World War, but has been expelled from the German Catholic Centre party.

Nazis forget that Christ, the world's Great Ambassador of Peace, in His Sermon on the Mount, said: "Let your light shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in Hevaen."

Press Muzzle

When muzzled accounts of the present German press, of newspapers arrived in the United States, one recalls German atrocities of 1914.

Belgians in this country well remember the German press denied wanton slaughter of non-combatants in 1914. It is safe to remember the attitude of Germany in 1914. Germany is making the play of being misunderstood. One does not forget Von Bissing and Edith Cavell, the English girl who was butchered, Von Tirpitz with "spurlos versenkt" the Lusitania.

"Il n' yas pas de fumes sans feu!" as the Frenchman says.

In New York the Nazi organs, Voelkischer Beobachter, Berliner Angriff are not available. Copies of less partisan Teutonic papers carry news of unofficial but active boycott on Jewish business.

Evidence of muzzlement of German press is unquestioned. Only mention of violence is in Berliner Tageblatt under headline "False Rumors—Thaelmann and Torgler are alive." Simultaneously the paper mentions reports of persecution of Jews, telling readers that American papers have published denials made by Chancellor Hitler and Minister Goering.

On next day is published an interview with Thaelmann in his cell.

One paper goes so far as to re-publish excerpts from American newspapers reporting killings of Jews as samples of rumors being spread.

Recent Madison Square Garden protest meeting was published in the Voehnische Zeitung, explaining that the Garden was largest meeting place in New York and listed the speakers, as well as name of the man's religious denomination.

The old proverb tells us that "Circumstances alter cases." A grotesque example of its truth is afforded by the manifesto to the Jews in Poland, which was issued by the German and Austro-Hungarian high command in the early part of

To the Jews in Poland

Heroic armies of the great Central European Governments, Germans and Austria, are in Poland. Powerful advance of our armies has forced the despotic Russian Government to retreat. Our banners bring you justice and freedom: equality of civil rights, freedom of faith, freedom of work undisturbed in all branches of economic and cultural life in your own spirit. Too long have you been in distress beneath the iron Muscovite yoke. As friends we come to you. The barbaric foreign government is over. Equal rights for Jews shall be developed upon firm foundations. Do not let yourselves, as several times in the past, be duped by flattering promises. Did not the Tsar grant equal rights for Jews in 1905, and did he not issue his highest manifesto in support of this? How did they fulfill to you that obligation which was undertaken in the eyes of the whole world? Remember the expulsions by which, day after day, masses of Jews were driven from places where they had long been settled. Remember Kisineff, Homel, Bialistok, Siedlec and many hundreds of other bloody pogroms . . . That is how the Tsar kept his word as a monarch which he gave when he was in a tight corner. He is now in a tight corner . . . Prepare the way to overcome the enemy completely and to bring victory for freedom and justice.

Foreign Reporter

Foreign reporters in Berlin and Germany rejected Nazi rule. They refuse to allow the reporters' association head to quit when the censor demanded that he do so.

Edgar Ansel Mowrer, of the Chicago Daily News, is the man that they are after. Because Edgar Ansel Mowrer knows too much.

As head of the Foreign Press Association, comprising 135 correspondents residing in Berlin and representing twenty nations, Mowrer recently wrote a book, "Germany Puts Its Clock Back." It told the truth, unexpurgated and unvarnished. A friend smuggled me in a copy as the Germans would not allow it to be read in the Reich. Recently the text came within the scope of the Nazi government. From some official on Friedrichstrasse came the edict that Mr. Mowrer must resign his presidency.

I came to him for an explanation.

"When I was questioned about resigning, they told me to throw up the job and claim it was my health. But my book contains nothing that a political writer might not say. It's my duty not to yield to the Nazi or any other organization.

"They are not going to hamper correspondents."

At the same time all newsstories have been censored. What is occuring inside Germany will probably never be known. Foreign newspapers have been banned in Berlin. I was unable to purchased the New York Times the other day. Sold out, they told me. But I know better. All copies of the New York Times of that date were confiscated, simply because it contained material that showed the Germans what they themselves did not know about the boycott.

Folks Don't Think

What do the folks in Berlin think? Those that do are scared. Others have joined Hitlerism. It's the only way out.

Where is it all leading?

I asked my newsy the question—bright, chap, although he wears insignia of Hitler on his sleeve.

"It's the money question, mein Herr," he said. "In America you call it the economic question.

"Somewhere, when I went to school I read, 'Beyond the Alps lies Rome.' Well, mister, beyond Germany lies Austria. Germany wants Austria. We call it here in Berlin the Anschluss."

Feeling of Moscow Pervades

The feeling of Moscow pervades Berlin. Everyone is scared. A friend of mine will not use the phone.

"I'm scared," he said. "Who may be overhearing me? Maybe I'll say something that is harmless and it is taken for something else."

Letters are opened everywhere and read. No telegram goes unscathed. When one talks it is in a whisper.

The censorship of over 300 papers involves printing only news that the government wants them to know.

Yesterday I was talking to a silk merchant friend of mine. In the midst of the conversation I heard a "click."

That told me only too well that a dictaphone had broken into the connection.

Jews that remain are not frightened. They are scared to death! Those who have left do not know what to do. Others cannot go because the the roads out of Berlin have been crowded with Jewish folks, trudging along. Some are pushing carts—others baby carriages with their meagre possessions. Those who had money paid their way on trains. Meanwhile the Nazis have ordered all Jews turned back at the border.

AFFIDAVITS OF TORTURE

Numerous affidavits, sworn statements have been filed by foreign Jews whose consulates have protested to the foreign office. Twenty American Jews were maltreated, according to their affidavits. Many of them were robbed, beaten, mauled and examined. They were hauled from their homes and places of business. Even their place of worship was not a sanctuary.

They include:

Protective Detention

NO news has yet been head of Dr. Kurt Hahn, the Director of the Schloss Salem School and one of the leading educationalists in Germany. His arrest was described as "protective detention." Similarly there is still no news of Dr. Hilferding. Rabbi Fraenkel is reported (but as yet without confirmation) to have died of his injuries. Dr. Hertz, however, the Jewish Socialist leader, has apparently been released.

Mother and Baby Forced into Cold

POLICE authorization is now needed by those leaving the country and this authorization is refused Jews.

On the night of April 6, at the border of France, 16 passengers were forced off the Berlin-Paris express. Six were women—one with a child in her arms.

She was forced into the cold, and the guards were obdurate in allowing her to enter the transfer station to get warm. After waiting several hours a train came in, which took off most of the marooned passengers.

A guard, who witnessed the proceeding, stated to an American correspondent:

"It is too bad to do this—but orders are orders."

Kicked in Groin

IN a three-page affidavit from the Social Democrat member of the Reichstag Sollman, he stated his house was attacked by men dressed in the uniform of the Storm Trops. But how he himself expressed it was even more vivid.

Before his wife he was unmercifully beaten.

"Stop," he cried.

"You filthy Jew," one of them snarled, kicking him as he lay prone.

"Then they threw me down the stairs," he recounted. "And I'm not young any more," exhibiting his blackened and bruised body. Huge welts raised themselves over his body, one even in his groin.

"At the foot of the stairs," he continued, "what I had was not enough. Again I was kicked, stamped upon and thrown into an automobile.

"'Help.' I cried, to a few bystanders. But help cannot come from such goyem. In the barracks to which I was taken I was forced to drink castor oil, beaten again and turned over to the police

"Here, at least I received mercy. Delivered to a hospital, my wounds were sewed and bandaged."

"Wish I Had Died"

THREE guests from the Cafe New York were robbed of 690 marks, a sworn affidavit states. On the night of March 15 three uniformed men took them by auto to the storm troop barracks in the Wallnertheater Strasse. Here thirty uniformed men beat them with blackjacks and tossed them into the street.

When one of them revived, he was so black and blue, his foot crippled, he said: "I wish I had died."

"Damed Pig-Eater"

DR. ISONSKY although a Soviet citizen and a non-Communist had his apartment in Muenchenerstrasse entered into on March 15. Men in the "uniforms" of the storm troop took him to a barracks. Here they beat him unmercifully, knocked one tooth out and put him up against a wall to fake that they were about to shoot him. Mercifully they had tied a handkerchief over his eyes. Dr. Isonsky submitted this affidavit to the Soviet Embassy. The police laughed at it.

A few days afterward the physician had a phone call: "Are you still there? We'll finish you!" At the time of going to press Dr. Isonsky is still living. But he had a close shave, notwithstanding. Asking police protection he received a guard overnight. But on the night of March 25, the physician was again visited by eight men in the "uniform" of storm troops who shot through the door. Calling the Embassy, a riot squad was brought. The police arrived and let in the storm troops. One of them told Dr. Isonsky: "You'll never get out alive—damned pig eater."

Swine

ON the Alte Schoenhauserstrasse fourteen uniformed men forced their way into a Jewish cafe. Driving out the guests they took 250 marks from the proprietor.

"Swine!" they shouted at him, punching him and kicking him in the belly.

Bleeding Victims

JOSEPH WEINER, living in the Grenadierstrasse, Jewish, was beaten on March 9 in his own home. His wife and son intervened and they too were likewise beaten. Bleeding, the victims were powerless to see their life's savings of 3,200 marks stolen.

Pantless Attorney

In Munich the tale is heard of the Jewish attorney who made an appeal for his client whose business had been ruined by the Nazis. Taking the lawyer in hand, these Brown Shirters stripped the barriste, to his underwear and hung on him a sign: "I will never appeal to the police again." He was chased through the streets and a photograph taken of him as he ran, dodging the onslaughts of his tormentors. In the photograph could be plainly seen the uniformed Auxiliary Police wearing the armlet, "Hilfs Polizei." For that reason Jews are not appealing to the police.

They are turning to the synagogues and temples praying to the great God of Abraham and Moses for succor.

Economic Drive Against Jews in Berlin Continues. Photo Shows a Department Store with "Jew," in German, painted on the windows.

KEYSTONE

Blackjacked

ON March 15 four Jews were taken from the Cafe Enlaender in the Schoenhauseralles to the storm troop barracks in the Schillingstrasse where 400 marks were confiscated. In their affidavit they stated that they were beaten by uniformed men with blackjacks. Unconscious, when they were revived, they were forced to lick the blood from the table and from one another. This statement was sworn to.

Half Paralyzed

IN Baden a Socialist deputy named Nussbaum killed a policeman and wounded another one when they entered his house at five o'clock on Friday morning to search it. Nussbaum is a half-paralyzed invalid who had been in a mental home for several weeks last year, and even the "Angriff" referred to him on Friday as a "lunatic Socialist leader."

Turns on Enemies

IN Breslau, a Jewish merchant, Alfred Gasmann, his wife, son and maid narrowly escaped lynching after Gasmann opened fire on policemen who were searching his home on suspicion. Gasmann used a regular infantry army rifle and fired through the door and windows while his son loaded other rifles.

Pawn of Nazis

This occurred in like manner at Chemnitz when Paul Jarso, arrested by so-called storm troops, was shot and killed. The storm troops were none other than one of the leading Nazi units, engineered by the head of the organization, with direct orders from Berlin. Paul Jaros was a pawn of one of many that were marked for extermination.

Suicide at Cemetery

AUGUST BETTMAN, young, brilliant Heidelberg University graduate in law, decided to party company with life at the iron gates of a cemetery. "To hell with Hitler, the b——d," were his last words.

Future Torment

FRANZ HEYMANN, department store manager for the Gladbachs, attempted, with his wife, to commit suicide. He could bear it no longer. The Nazis are gleeful that he was not successful, and, is still living, to be tormented in the future.

Dead Jew Kicked About

ROBERT BAESSLER, Duesseldorf, was arrested by storm troops and killed. They let him attempt to escape and shot him down in cold blood. The body where breath no longer lay, was kicked about.

Nazi Floggers

SEVEN Jews living together in the Frankfort district were called upon by Nazi troopers to come for half-an-haur to their headquarters. They inquired of the police what they should do and were told they had better go. At the Nazi headquarters they were compelled to flog one another till some of them almost lost consciousness.

Family Beaten

PROFESSOR Zondak, the world-famous surgeon, who attended Stressman and other leading German statesmen, was dragged by force out of the Berlin City Hospital, of which he is a Director, and his family were attacked and beaten.

Suicide Rather Than Honor

THEY found with with a poison flask in his hand, the Berlin lawyer, George Lehmann. His business gone, his clientele drifted away from him, shunned on the streets—fearful of the Brown Houses, Lehmann was brave enough to do away with himself.

Einstein's Daughters Flee From Germany

THE two daughters of Albert Einstein fled from Germany secretly. With this came news that the Nazi Government seized Professor Einstein's Berlin bank balance of $5,000 marks and securities valued at 25.000 marks. Cause was averred as to "prevent their use for treasonable purposes."

Sour Musical Notes

BRUNO WALTER who had returned from a successful concert tour in the United States was halted from conducting his Leipziger Gewandhaus Orchestra.

"I am stopped from appearing in Berlin," said the musician. "Therefore, I am abandoning my tour in Germany."

Catholic's Home Pillaged

A Rhineland Catholic is Erich Maria Remarque and not a Jew. The Nazis discredited his story of "All Quiet on the Western Front." The story is not life-like, they claim. The story is preposterous.

In raiding his home they discovered several other manuscripts.

I have this information on good authority. That, in confiscating these manuscripts, several of the raiders, hastening from the search, used one of the public toilets that are about the streets. Here, for a pfenning, or less, an aged woman tends her customers, male and female, giving them a piece of a cut newspaper to use. The Nazi raiders, tossing the proffered newspaper pieces away, cut one of the manuscripts of Erich Maria Remarque, used them, and tossed the rest down the flush.

Nazis Steal and "Chisel"

IN the uniform of storm troops the home of Lion Feuchtwanger, world famous author of "The Jewish War Power," a satirical novel with Hitler in the role of hero, was broken into. Tapestries on the walls were torn down. Books were taken away. What manuscripts were found were not even taken. They were torn into bits and tossed from the windows.

A few hours later most of the pilfered books were reposing on book stalls. They had cost many marks but the purchaser had bought them at a bargain.

"Miracle" Man

FROM Salzburg, Austria, comes the news that Max Reinhardt, famous German-Jewish theatrical impressario, is fearing fanatics who will attempt to assassinate him if he remains near the Austro - German frontier.

I saw Reinhardt only recently when he was shunted from his connection with the Berlin Deutches Theatre.

"I had intended," he told me, "to remain for the Salzberg music festival. But the murder of some of my friends shows me that it is dangerous to stay. I shall leave. The whole world seems to be crazy."

In Salzburg, to the press, Reinhardt said, following the arrest at Goetzis of six men who admitted they attempted to kidnap the Jewish Rotter brothers, formerly Berlin's leading theatrical producers:

"The murder of Mr. and Mrs .Alfred Rotter yesterday in Lichtenstein and the assassination of George Bell in Weissee shows me that Germany is going crazy."

Homeless Muses

THAT grand old man, Max Liebermann, president emeritus of the Academy of Art, a man who has done considerable toward art in Germany, has been hurtled from his post. He is one of the many of the professors of art, of literature and philosophy. Jewish judges and attorneys have been arrested. Some of them have been manhandled. Many of them have been murdered. Their feet have been burned with exposed candles. They have been tied by their fingers to rafters and left to hang.

The trek of "The Wandering Jew" now leads him on the endless trail over the face of the earth. Judea is not blasted, girding its loins and gathering new strength. Germany and Hitler will live to regret but not forget their iniquity.

Gambling That the World Will Soon Forget the Atrocities and Boycott for a Greater Germany, Hitler Demands Large Army and Navy in an Effort to Regain Germany's Lost Provinces and Territorial Possessions.

That Great American — Samuel Untermeyer — Hits Back. Hitler's Policy Is Absolutely Without Regard to Suffering or Compassion of Humans.

HITLER the BUTCHER

Tony Sarr, former editor of "National Life," "Aviation Stories" and other American publications, has managed to smuggle from Germany his data on what actually occurred during the reign of terror. His impressions allow the latitude for the reader to judge for himself actual conditions.

The illustrations are his conception of what is literally going on in Germany.

In a few instances his notations have been augmented by the editor.

LET US ENUMERATE what has occurred in the past few days. Here they are as I myself have seen: first, the Nazis charge the Jews with seeking Hitler's life; second, they have banned the Old Testament; three, famous authors have been driven from the Reich.

Today the Brown Shirts are standing around the news venders. Some of them are news venders themselves. They are shouting:

"Murder of Hitler!"

"Murder of Hitler!"

"Jews want to kill Hitler!"

I am standing near Freidrichstrasse Banhof. Here comes a newsy shouting: "Murder of Hitler!" A mob surges about him, buying his papers as fast as he can reach for them. One fellow, a tough in seaman's garb, who might have come from Bremenhaven where the old North German Lloyd has its wharves, has yanked the entire bunch of papers and is throwing them to the mob. Men and women struggle to get a copy, and one woman, who looks like a haus frau to some retired German bank clerk, is trampled over.

The crowd passes on, and I help her to her feet.

"Thank you," she said in German.

But she can hardly stand on her feet, and I leave her resting on the curbstone.

I look in one of the papers and read the following:

"Throughout the world the Jews are working to make little of the Nazis. They trust to prevent Germany's economic recovery. They want another 1914. They agitate that they want the murder of Adolf Hitler. The World War of 1914 is their curse. They brought this on the people of Germany and we have suffered. Now let them suffer."

I spoke to a stout old German about this.

"Meine good friend," he told me. "The Jews are not to blame for the war. The Jews are of small importance here in Deutschland. They represent a few people. The World War was and can be blamed on one man, or rather one family —Hohenzollern. Wilhelm (and the German cursed in his Teuton tongue, as he spat) wanted the World War. His father before him wanted it. They wanted power, possession. France must be whipped. The English must be swept off the seas. The Italians must know their place. The vast possessions of Germany then (1914) must grow larger.

"That's what they did, mein Herr. That's what they aimed for, for years. To them we blame the World War. To them must go all the Hell that there is.

"Even my own son, who was killed in the first battle in Belgium—I blame Wilhelm for it.

"But the new generation has come. Nazis who were too young to go to war. The blood, and the suffering that we Germans in our own homes—the sugarless, meatless, heatless days—they don't know that. They do not understand—they do not know.

"No one understands. No one. Only God. He knows."

One Way to Jerusalem

"One way road to Jerusalem! One way road to Jerusalem! That's the shouting of the troopers as they nose a box under the eyes of the Jews in Berlin's Kurfuerstendamm.

Fake railroad tickets have been printed. These are pressed into the hands of the Jews, with a Teuton curse.

"Here, you . . . (so and so)," they cry, "here's your ticket—to Jerusalem—and don't come back."

On the face of the ticket is the inscription: "To Jerusalem—no return."

It remains to be seen whether German-born Jews will lightly abandon in large numbers a country which has been their ancestral home, and to which they have given their abilities and their devotion in unstinted measure.

Town Like Big-Breasted Women

Frankfort-on-the-Main is a town of steep medieval roofs slanting crazily. Narrow alleys with large houses lean over them like big breasted women gossiping among themselves. Day after the boycott, in the cobbled market square, the Jew was forbidden to drink the famous apfelwein and look at the 14th century Romerhaus, for 500 years the Town Hall. Here Hitlerism is not only an edict but a fad. The new suburb personified Hitler, perhaps in Praunheim-Romerstadt more than any other place in Germany. Praunheim-Romerstadt is a suburb, done in the modern manner, with tiers of concrete and glass and gardens—a 20th century solution for problems of the cheap but modern homes. Here the Jew is now forbidden. The few who were there before Hitler's pillage of fire and blood have disappeared.

The iron discipline of Nazis here crippled Jews' business. The day of the boycott there were bands and parades, while armed Hitlerites patrolled the shops. The word "Jew" appeared in large black letters on a yellow placard on all shops. Big burly Nazi Brown Shirts, armed with revolvers, warned away all would-be customers.

A Nazi band played on Goethe Platz. The Nazis were happy, but the poor Jews who had made Frankfort a great city, were nowhere to be seen. The swaggering ruffians of Nazis, however, revolvers at their hips, ran riot over the town.

Rape of Jew Has Begun

This man is a big banker of Berlin. His name is everywhere. In fact, he has espoused the cause of the Nazis.

"For business reasons," he told me. "The Nazi is in power now. They will hold it for a while, too. Am I to blame for this latest and dreadful adventure of the Nazis? I must stay with the Nazis or I fall. The economic pressure has begun to be felt. Many of my banking customers have come in declaiming that the boycott has ruined their business. They don't like the idea that I have joined Hitler—but, if the Jews get out of the banking business—then my own business will prosper—and the boycott will pass and the world will forget.

"I'll get my manufacturers to drive down prices. America will buy; England will buy; the Argentine will buy. People will buy if prices are low. And next to Japan, Germany can produce things cheaper than any other country in the world.

"Hitler is a phase. He'll pass—but he'll pass for the return of Hohenzollerns. That is the next step.

"However, just this morning I notice that there is heavy liquidation of the German bonds. Despite the increased transactions in Reich dollar issues, the volume of trading is lower. Losses in German bonds were very sharp (April 7). More than five hundred bonds of the Reich's 5½s changed hands. This general decline in German dollar bonds is a continuance of the movement that started over a week ago with the fight of the Hitler policies.

"Still, what we lose abroad, we hope to make up here.

"'Believe it or not,' as one of the cartoonists says, the Jewish bankers are the ones to feel this trouble. Perhaps it's the big money of the Gentile bankers. But isn't that business. Raus mit competition. We put a few marks in the hands of the Hitlerites—and presto, all the Nazi writers start to talk about the Shylocks. It's propaganda."

This was more than true, as only the other day Dr. Hjalmer Schact became president of the Reisbank. He is not a friend of the Jews, and banking circles already are reported with resignations of international names of men on the bank boards of the Boerse. In one breath the Nazis say that they don't dislike the old, cultured Jews, but the immigrants from Galicia. But, like the banker, he does not hate the poor Jew. He does not like the wealthy Jew but he finds it good business to kill off a competitor.

"The small Jewish business man," added the banker, "will be in a much worse position than his wealthy friend the manufacturer or banker. His business deals directly with the public. They will not only boycott him, break his windows, steal his wares, but they'll "gang" him as you say in Chicago. Nazi competition will close his shop forever.

"Not only the business man but the Gentile lawyer will curb the Jewish lawyer. Judgeships everyday are being taken from the sons of Abraham. Doctors are losing their practice. Why, only this morning a physician friend of mine desired the post of the head of one of Berlin's hospitals. I had it arranged, and the Jewish head is out—back to his office and pills. Next month he'll be dispossessed."

Boycott Highlights

Dr. Alfred Lenhard Tietz, head of the Tietz Department Store Corporation, one of the largest in Germany, his four Jewish fellow directors and eight Jewish members of the governing board have resigned.

In the Ruhr, Privy Councilor Frowein, president of the Associated German Chambers of Commerce, has assumed the chairmanship of the governing board of the company.

Mosse Publishing Co., publishers of the Tageblatt, the Acht Uhr Abendblatt, recently were forced to make change with their personnel "in line with the guiding principles of the National Socialist Party."

Presiding justice of the Kassel judiciary stated that not more than two Jewish attorneys shall be admitted to plead in any court in his district.

Such limitations have already been cut in orchestras, choruses, musical organizations. More are yet to come.

Flags flew on the day of the boycott. There were bands and the familiar Swastika banners. Pistol-hipped Nazis ran amuk on the streets.

But the rich Leipzig market for the Germans is over. The boycott of the Jews, the continued persecution, will obliterate the fur business which brought hundreds of thousands to Leipzig.

For centuries Leipzig has been the fur center of the world. That is no more. Now it will find its way to that section in the Thirties west of Broaday, U. S. of course. England may try to get the fur business, too.

Barred Doors Do Not Keep Nazis from Sanctity of Jewish Homes, Maiming of Aged and Infirm and Assaulting of Young Jewish Girls.

RABBI DRAGGED FROM BED

IN Munich, Rabbi Dr. Baerwald was at night dragged out of bed—again it is said by provocateurs. He was taken out into the court-yard, rifles were aimed at him, and the order to fire was given.

JEWISH DISFRANCHISEMENT

THE law is clear. All Jews are to be disfranchised. Those who came to Germany since the war are to be expelled. Others are to be doomed into oblivion. Left to live in Germany, with their power of earning a living shorn, they will slowly starve to death.

RADIO BAN

UNTIL further notice no composition or phonograph records by Arthur Toscanni, Walter Damrosch, Serge Koussevitsky, Arthur Bodansky, Harold Bauer or Ossip Gabrilowitsch shall be used on programs of radio. This is in reprisal for their appeal on behalf of certain Jewish musicians in Germany.

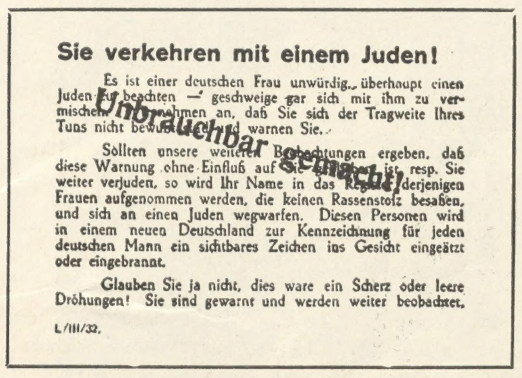
BRANDING WOMEN

A threat to brand with acid the faces of German women who keep company with Jews is the latest outcome of Hitler's reign of Fascist terror.

Respectable women and girls, seen walking in the streets of Berlin with Jews or supposed Jews, are handed a card by Hitler's "Nazi" terrorists. This card (a photograph of one appears on this page).

YOU KEEP COMPANY WITH A JEW!

"It is unworthy of a German woman to take the slightest notice of a Jew, let alone to be friendly with him. We take it you have not realized the significance of your conduct and we warn you.



Sie verkehren mit einem Juden!
Es ist einer deutschen Frau unwürdig, überhaupt einen Juden zu beachten — geschweige gar sich mit ihm zu vermischen. Wir nehmen an, daß Sie sich der Tragweite Ihres Tuns nicht bewußt sind und warnen Sie.
Sollten unsere weiteren Beobachtungen ergeben, daß diese Warnung ohne Einfluß auf Sie geblieben ist, resp. Sie weiter verjuden, so wird Ihr Name in das Register derjenigen Frauen aufgenommen werden, die keinen Rassenstolz besaßen, und sich an einen Juden wegwarfen. Diesen Personen wird in einem neuen Deutschland zur Kennzeichnung für jeden deutschen Mann ein sichtbares Zeichen ins Gesicht eingeätzt oder eingebrannt.
Glauben Sie ja nicht, dies wäre ein Scherz oder leere Drohungen! Sie sind gewarnt und werden weiter beobachtet.

Placard in Germany Announcing that Girls Will be Branded if They Keep Company with Jews.

"Should our further observation of you lead to the conclusion that this warning has remained without effect on you, and that you choose to 'Jewefy' yourself, your name will be inscribed on the register of those women who have no pride of race and give themselves to a Jew.

> "In the new Germany, we shall stamp on the face of such a woman a mark burned in or etched with acid as a sign for every German to see.

"Do not believe this is a joke or an empty threat. You are hereby warned and will be further watched!"

PSALMS AND ASHES

IF the reawakening of the German people necessitates expulsion of Isaiah, Job and the Psalms from German book shelves, it is also to be expected for the great writers of today and yesterday.

Greatest names in German literature must be considered as ignorant. Consider the poet Lessing who made his Jewish friend Mendelssohn the hero of "Nathan der Weise." Too, the philosopher Schleiiermacher, who wrote of the Jewish philosopher Spinoza that he was "drunk with God." Also, consider Schiller and Wagner.

Deeds are mightier than words the Nazi creed will be the first to maintain. It is not enough to purge German literature of its Jewish elements. From German science must be struck the names of Einstein, Ehrlich, Jauregg. From German business must be "killed" for all time that great shipmaster, Albert Ballin.

The names of great Jewish men of Germany are almost without number.

Albert Einstein, Emil Ludwig, Bruno Walter, Eric Maria Remarque, Lion Feuchtwanger, Max Reinhardt, are a few of the better known lights of authors who have been banned by the dictator.

Einstein's apartment was broken into while he was out of the country. Because Einstein is a Jew they discredit his theories on "relativity."

"Why!" a young Nazi told me, who had been in charge of raiding homes of Berlin's lesser lights. "In your country, they have Jim Crow cars in the South. That's what will happen to the Jews here. It will be blood and thunder for them to stay—they will want to go.

"Too, and this is in confidence. Raiding these bugs of literature is lots of fun—and money. We carry off some of their antiques—if there is money about the house we take it. And keep it. That is why the shock troops of the Nazis like to raid homes. Keeper's finders, you know!"

Is Hitler a Sadist?

There is only one Nazi organization and Hitler is leader.

Is Hitler a beast or a man? Is he a sadist!

Is Goering, his lieutenant, the active mover of the action against the Jews, to blame? Is Goering looking for more power?

The Storm Troops worship Goering.

"We have not completed the job," avers Goering. "Let's clean them all up—the Jews, the Communists, the Catholics who do not like the Nazis! Let's pile the Communist flags in the city squares and burn them! Let's burn all the Communist pamphlets and publications. There is only one Nazi organization and Hitler is its leader!"

But there are those who claim that Hitler does not approve of Goering's manner of handling conditions. Hitler, to whom the Republicans looked with disapproval some time ago has espoused their cause.

A Great American Hits Back

One great American Jew has come forward to assail the Nazis—Samuel Untermeyer. He denounced the German Chancellor and said a concerted, world-wide Jewish boycott of German goods would be "justified."

Untermyer did not vaccilate. He did not mince words. He struck from the shoulder at the cancer that is threatening the world Jewry and Christianity.

Among other things, he said:

"The ascendency to power of a bigoted brute of the Hitler type and the tame submission to his yoke of a proud, self-respecting people, brings us pity for the remaining 99 per cent of the German people who are thereby relegated to semi-barbarism.

"There was never until now in history any such reign of terror. The 'witch-hunters' of the Dark Ages did not rival the Nazi anti-Semites in their devilish zeal and ingenuity....One hears all sorts of stories of terrorism and torture, apart from the destruction of their businesses and of their practice where they are professional men.

"The cruel edict is not the will of the German people. If they had the courage left, they would repudiate it a thousand times over. Nothing could better indicate the extent to which they have been crushed.

"The depth of the incredible ignorance of history and world conditions of this man Hitler and his affront to world credulity are best indicated by the absurd attempt to excuse the gratification of his long-cherished hatred of the Jews by his insulting fling at America, in comparing his persecution of the Jews to America's refusal to admit the yellow races to citizenship.

"The Mongolian race represents an older and radically different civilization from that of the white races, founded upon different physical, mental and religious attributes that could not have been made to mingle and by common consent have never been permitted to mingle. They have not been for centuries, as have the Jews and Germans, equal participants in the communal life of Germany, intermarrying, equally sharing the benefits and burdens of citizenship, to be suddenly treated as outcasts. They have not for centuries, as have the Jews, in times of war, shed their blood for the Fatherland on the field of battle, and in time of peace brought everlasting glory and honor to their nation in all the arts, sciences and professions, and wealth and prosperity in more than ten times their proportion to the population.

"Nothing short of the malignity of a blind, dull fanaticism could have prompted such an analogy....I predict that within the brief space of ten years the German people will despose themselves and repudiate and push the brutes who have so traduced their honor—but then it will be too late to retrace their steps.

"....This man Hitler is the cruel, hideous Nero of modern times, who used his brief tenure of power to torture and destroy the men, and the mothers, wives and children of the mn who shed their blood for the German Fatherland.

"Meantime, as the Jew has outlived all the centuries of persecution of the past, so he will survive this tyranny. He is the aristocrat of the world. Other races have come and gone. He alone has survived. Persecution cannot crush him.

"Our people would be justified in seeing to it that nowhere in the world and under no circstances should a Jew....buy or use merchandise manufactured in Germany or support German industry in any form."

Jewish Attorney Forced to Walk Barefoot Through Streets of Munich Carrying Sign Reading: "I'll Never Again Complain to the Police." INTERNATIONAL

"Jews of the nation will parade on May 10 in a Hitler protest. Representatives of 600 Jewish organizations voted monster protest parades over the land of the Star Spangled Banner. In every center of Jewish population, organizations with a membership of 2,000,000 will also petition to the Government and the League of Nations the atrocities committed in Germany."

In this announcement, by the American Jewry, one finds the answer to this publication—an editorial that becomes the mighty weapon egoistic Hitler could not conceive. That sadistic nincompoop could not visualize America jumping to arms of an embargo against Germany goods. Inane madness as is his heritage did not foresee that Nazi banners, once flaunted so bravely down Unter Der Linden, would be catapulted into the dunghill of American spleen.

America has awakened. Anger of Gentile and Jew has just been aroused. Fires of vengeance are only, being started. If through the medium of this publication, NEW YORK LIFE has kindled a conflagration that shall burn in the fires of Hell all seducers of human mercy, then our message shall not have been in vain. From Sodom did the Nazis come. Back to that burning Hell do we condemn them!
